

Overview

Table 23

Offense Analysis, Number and Percent Change, 2005-2006

- Nationwide in 2006, the average dollar value of property taken during motor vehicle thefts was $6,649; during burglaries, $1,834; during robberies, $1,268; and during larceny-thefts, $855.
- Most robberies (44.5 percent) took place on streets or highways.
- By location, 66.2 percent of burglaries occurred at residences.
- Of the larceny-theft categories, larceny-thefts from buildings had the highest average dollar value of property taken, $1,170.
- More than 42 percent (42.5) of all larceny-thefts involved property valued at more than $200.